ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

The Female Health Company is a manufacturer of disposable medical devices having its manufacturing site in Balakong, Malaysia and test laboratory and offices in London, United Kingdom. As a responsible and ethical manufacturer The Female Health Company is committed to strive to ensure that its manufacturing, and other, activities follow best environmental practices and have minimal environmental impact. This will be achieved by:

- Complying with all appropriate Local Regulations with respect to environmental issues, emissions and waste disposal etc
- Engendering environmental awareness within all employees
- Working with our suppliers to reduce the environmental impact of all packing used to supply components to The Female Health Company
- Where possible use recyclable packaging for components
- Ensure that waste is disposed of in a way that minimizes its impact on the environment.
- Consider environmental impact of our product throughout during its life cycle including development, design, production, sale and disposal.
- Where possible discontinue the use of harmful cleaning agents
